RUSSIANS SCORED

Hayashi Says Japan Is Anxious To Learn Soviet's Stand

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 1.—Reuter's learns that British and Italian circles are confident that the Genoa Conference will open on March 8 as arranged. It is estimated that 2,000 persons will attend, including the delegates and staffs. All of the thirty-five countries invited have accepted, with the exception of the United States, whose answer is awaited.

HAYASHI IS OPTIMISTIC

London, Feb. 1.—Baron Hayashi, interviewed by Reuter's correspondent today on the prospects of the Genoa Conference, indicated Japan's strong desire to learn what attitude Russia and Germany would take there.

He said he personally thought that the details of the Russian question ought to be left to practical business men, but the one essential was for Russia to abandon the system of frightening people and accept the right of private ownership, regarding which the Soviets' ideas were obscure.

He pointed out that it would be necessary to create a business organisation in Japan to work conjunctively with those of Europe. The Ambassador expressed an optimistic opinion as regards a world settlement in the near future.

CABINET STUDIES PACT
(Special To The China Press)

London, Jan. 28.—The British Cabinet yesterday afternoon held a long meeting at which the Franco-British Pact was studied in connection with the first exchange of views which took place between Lord Curzon and Ambassador St. Aulaire on Thursday. The French counter-proposals were subjected to a careful scrutiny; and it is likely that the Cabinet will meet on Monday for further discussion of the pact.

Lord Curzon will leave on Tuesday for Paris, where he will meet M. Poincare and inform him of the British Government's opinion on the French counter-proposals. Anglo-French negotiations appear to be developing smoothly, and hopes for a satisfactory outcome are entertained.

U. S. DENIES SLIGHT
(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Jan. 29.—Both the White House and the State Department have issued a formal and categorial denial of a British newspaper report to the effect that President Harding and Secretary of State, Mr. Hughes, had declined to receive the French Ambassador, M. Jusserand.

M. Jusserand's secretary described the British report as ridiculous.

2,000 INDIANS BATTLE WITH POLICE; FOUR DEAD, 6 HURT

First Attack Magistrate For Arrest Of Two

(Reuter's Service)

Calcutta, Feb. 1.—As a consequence of the arrest of two non co-operator picketers near Pauna, Bengal, a crowd of 2,000 on January 27 assaulted the District Magistrate, the Police Superintendent, and the Deputy Superintendent. The latter was knocked unconscious. The mob was warned to disperse but replied with a volley of stones. The police first fired blank shots, and then buckshot, but this having no effect on the mob, the police were obliged to fire ball cartridges killing four and wounding six of the rioters.

GHANDI FIGHTS TAXES

Bombay, Feb. 1.—Mr. Gandhi's new mass civil disobedience campaign, involving the non-payment of taxes, has been inaugurated in the district of Surat, where a conference of 4,000 local representatives unanimously agreed with Mr. Gandhi's choice of this district for the beginning of the movement, and decided to start at once on their new campaign, unless a Round-table conference was held.

Speeches urging the enlistment of 10,000 volunteers were delivered at a mass-meting of the Bombay Provincial Congress Committee, whereupon many enlisted, including Mrs. Naidu, leader of the Women's Movement in India, and practically all non-cooperation leaders in Bombay.

Tokio, Feb. 2.—As a result of the Cabinet meeting last night, it has officially been decided that the funeral of the late Field Marshal Prince Yamagata will be conducted at the state expense and that one division of guards of honor be despatched to escort the coffin.

It is also expected that His Majesty the Emperor will specially order the court business to be suspended for the day of the state funeral. Upon hearing of the Prince's serious condition the Emperor has by special grace raised him to the first court rank.

Seamen's Union Outlawed By Hongkong Gov't. For Fomenting General Strike

Peace And Good Order Endangered By Effort To Paralyse Life Of Colony—Police Raid Strikers' Headquarters

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Feb. 2.—On the advice of the Executive Council the Governor has declared the Chinese Seamen's Union an unlawful society.

An explanatory notification in the Gazette states that the order-in-council was made, not because the members of the Seamen's Union had struck for higher wages, but because attempts had been made by the Union to paralyse the life of the Colony by procuring strikes in other employments of workmen, who themselves had no grievances against their employers.

Were this permitted it would cause widespread distress by interfering with the food supplies of the community and with the carrying on of essential services. The actions of the Union thus endanger the peace and good order of the Colony, and the Seamen's Union is therefore declared unlawful.

POLICE RAID OFFICES

Hongkong, Feb. 2.—The police raided the Seamen's Union's headquarters last night and seized the office furniture, books and papers, and removed the sign board. The place has since been closed and put under police guard.

INTIMIDATORS FINED

Charged with intimidating a Chinese shipping agent engaged in recruiting Ningpo sailors to man ships held up by the Hongkong seamen's strike, two Chinese school teachers were fined in the Mixed Court yesterday, one $50 and the other $25. A third defendant, a seaman, was discharged.

Testimony was given to the effect that the men had gone twice to 965 Woosung Road, the home of one Kwei Ah-mow, one of the leading suppliers of Ningpo sailors here, and ordered him to stop recruiting men to send to Hongkong. Kwei testified that on the first occasion one of the accused told him if he did not stop his work that they would treat him like Admiral Tcheng. By which he gathered that he would be shot. This part of the charge the principal defendant denied, stating that besides being a teacher in a Ferry Road school he was connected in a secretarial capacity with the Chinese Laborers' Union, which had authorised him and the others, after a meeting to go to Kwei and advise him to stop enlisting sailors. They had letters of authorisation which were produced in court. He denied that a pamphlet submitted by Detective Inspector Reeves was published by his union. An excerpt from the pamphlet, which D. I. Reeves stated had been sent to all the shipping guilds read:

"We will not allow any senseless persons who have been duped by foreigners to spoil our plans. In order to preserve our existence and uphold the dignity of our country we will fight to the bitter end and bury those traitorous persons alive in the South Sea."

RECRUITS DELAYED

A batch of 160 Ningpo seamen who were recruited by the Oriental Secret Service and were to have left for Hongkong yesterday by the Keystone State did not sail owing to shortness of time in notification and will leave by the Cap Arcona of the French Mail Line Saturday. They will be in charge of Mr. A. N. Ormsby and Mr. J. W. Maloney of the Secret Service organisation.

Little news of the strike was received yesterday by local shipping men but it is stated that according to latest plans Seattle and San Francisco ships arriving will discharge Hongkong cargo here unless the tie-up is ended.

The China Mail steamer China is still held up at the Colony. The Siberia Maru of the T. K. K. is due to arrive at daylight this morning.

15 MILLION FACE STARVATION IN EIGHT PROVINCES

More than $10,000,000 is needed to cope with the famine problem in the provinces of Kiangsu, Anhui, Shantung, Hunan, Chekiang, Hupeh, Honan and Shensi, where over 15,000,000 have been rendered destitute by flood or drought, according to investigations made by representatives of International Relief Societies.

The extreme gravity of the situation was brought out at a meeting held recently by representatives of the relief societies in Peking. The International Committees have recognised as facts the conditions only in the eight provinces named but they cite reports of suffering also in Szechuen, Kweichow, Kiangsi and Kansu, which reports, though deemed fairly reliable, are not supported by the evidence of foreigners.

At present only about $5,000,000 is available for relief work, including the balance of the Maritime Customs surtax, which runs through February. To prevent disaster more than twice this amount is necessary. It is pointed out that the hardest times will coincide with the incidence of Spring.

The distress as investigated by the International Committees is shown by the following table:

Cause	Destitute
Kiangsu, flood	3,000,000
Anhui, flood	3,000,000
Shantung, flood	2,800,000
Hunan, drought	1,500,000
Chekiang, flood	1,208,000
Hupei, flood	1,500,000
Honan, flood	1,500,000
Shensi, flood	1,000,000

Following is part of a message received from Yuanchofu, in Western Hunan:

"Have seen people who have already died of starvation. Many thousands are in a starving condition. A hundred thousand need help at once and in two months five hundred thousand will need help.

"If you cannot help us we cannot stay here and see the dying of so many people. Famine fever takes away many people. Riedel has himself seen cannibalism. Many are killing their children by drowning or poisoning to prevent slow starvation as we see daily."

DEBT FUNDING BILL BRINGS JOY TO THE BRITISH

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 1.—Gratification is expressed in official quarters in London at the American Senate's action regarding the Allied debts, but it is pointed out that this does not mean that the funding scheme is yet through as the House of Representatives favors a 5 percent interest.

The next step will be a conference of both Houses and it is expected this will result in an agreed measure which the President will sign in Spring.

British payment of accrued interest is fixed to begin on April 1 next, when £25,000,000 will be handed on a 5 percent basis, but this date may be postponed in view of the Senate's suggestion of a ½ percent reduction of the rates.

Gifts Of Clothing Asked By Red Cross

An urgent call for the contribution of second hand clothing of all kinds for civilian relief work is being made by the American Red Cross here. The organisation announces that it is called upon daily to aid refugees and others and present supplies do not suffice to meet the call.

Those having such old clothing are most earnestly requested to phone the American Red Cross, Central 1953, and the Red Cross will send for same; or such parcels may be delivered to the China Central Committee, American Red Cross, 3rd floor, Robert Dollar Building, No. 3 Canton Road.

Has Eleven Fiances Waiting For Her

Who are the eleven men. New York is asking, whose ardent suits have won Miss Virginia Lee's "Yes" and who expect on her return from abroad to become her husband? Undulant, slender-hewed Miss Lee, whom Howard Chandler Christy enthused over as "the ideal Christy girl," has confessed to friends in Paris that she is afraid o return "because I've got eleven fiances, and they'll all be waiting at the pier." But none of her friends can list the entire eleven. And perhaps their names will remain a mystery until her vessel docks. Miss Lee was born in Mexico City and educated in New Orleans. She is twenty-one years old.

Chang Tso-lin Ruthless But He Gets Results

Chang Tso-lin is a prophet in his own home town. Outside of the three eastern provinces his name is not so popular, but with the home folks, Chinese and foreigners alike, he stands where Caesar stood when the Romans heard the glad news that he had mopped up the map with the Gauls. Call him a Judas, but don't let anybody in Mukden hear you. Say he is sold out to the Japanese, but say it in whispers if any of Chang's constituents are within earshot. Brand him a traitor to his country, but don't do your branding on the other side of Peking. Denounce him as a bandit, a gold seeking politician, a schemer—any thing you like, but first make sure that your audience contains no son of old Manchuria, for Chang is "the goods" up North.

Authority for the foregoing rest with Thomas S. Moseley, manager for the Texas Oil Company in Mukden, and for ten years a resident and traveler in Manchuria. For the last three years Mr. Moseley has lived in Mukden, not far from the war lord's yamen, and knows whereof he speaks.

Chang, according to Mr. Moseley is a good deal like old Diaz, of Mexico, in that he "gets results," and keeps order. And results are what count in government. When Diaz was at the head of the parade in Mexico the country was fit to live in.

Chang Tso-lin gets results, Mr. Moseley says, and if you doubt it he suggests that you ask anybody who lives in Mukden. That's a rather convincing challenge, made all the more convincing by the emphatic manner in which the oil company's representative phrased and proclaimed his certificate of character for the Manchurian militarist.

RULES RUTHLESSLY

"Chang Tso-lin rules with an iron hand (Mr. Moseley now talking) but he gets results, and when you are living in a country and doing business there that's what you want. Up north we have peace and calm. We have an up-to-date and progressive administration of the affairs of government that satisfies everybody. When we sell our goods we absolutely know that the bank notes we receive in payment will be negotiable at par when we take them to our bank to purchase gold. In Mukden we have everything that a modern, well governed city should have. Law and order on all sides. Moderate taxes. Trains running on time. Minimum of red tape in our dealings with Chang's officials. No graft. No everlasting scheming of politicians and parties for power. What more could you ask of any government? Nothing!

"Chang Tso-lin is the whole works, which is right and proper. If too many cooks constitute a nuisance anywhere it is in government. In Mukden Chang has all the power and all the responsibility. If any official under Chang goes wrong, off comes his head. No delays about it. No injunctions. No appeals to a higher court. Chang decides on the spot, and anybody who lives in those parts will tell you that ninety-nine times in a hundred he decides right.

"This doesn't mean, however, that Chang takes delight in lopping off heads. On the contrary, he is ruthless only when the occasion demands. But everybody under him knows that he will stand for no tom foolery, and that a head, more or less, rolling in the dust means nothing in his young life. And knowing this, they are all careful to toe the line.

HE IS EFFICIENT

"Chang is efficient. His army is a real army. When you talk of 'China's rabble armies' you are not referring to the one commanded by Chang Tso-lin. All his soldiers wear fur lined overcoats in the winter time. And real leather shoes. His artillery is drawn by big, up-standing Manchurian mules that carry you back, in fancy, to the old Ozarks. And on their sleek backs you see real leather harness, with all metal parts beautifully polished. His guns are the very latest and best from the best munition factories in the world. Maskee what munition factories; the point is, they are real guns, not wooden dummies.

"Chang's soldiers are contented, and loyal. Like the rest of us, they are for Chang. It may be that they are loyal because they are well fed, and that they would be just as loyal to any other commander with an unfailing commissary. You can't prove by me, for I'm no student of Chinese psychology; but I do know that they are loyal to Chang. Chang's cavalry is mounted on well fed, well cared for Manchurian ponies, said by military men of my acquaintance to be the best army mount in the world.

HAS AIRPLANES, TOO

"Airplanes constitute part of Chang's fighting equipment. Nearly every day we see them and hear them flying over Mukden. Just now there is a German army aviator in Mukden, teaching Chang's men how to fly. In addition he has some young men who graduated not long

BALFOUR PLEDGES BRITAIN TO RETURN WEIHAIWEI TO CHINA

Poison Gas Is Barred From Warfare And U-Boats Will Be Restricted—Publication Of The Powers' Commitments In China, Removal Of Troops And Postoffices Also Meet With Approval

APPLAUD SHANTUNG SETTLEMENT

Baron Shidehara Thanks Secretary Hughes And Balfour For Good Offices—Minister Sze Says Possibility Of Misunderstanding Now Is Removed

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Feb. 1.—The announcement of the settlement of the Shantung question at the plenary session of the Conference by Mr. Hughes was received with loud applause and evoked expressions of deep satisfaction by the delegates.

Baron Shidehara thanked Mr. Balfour and Mr. Hughes for their good offices.

Mr. Alfred Sze said he believed that the settlement would remove all possibility of Sino-Japanese misunderstanding.

Mr. Balfour declared that Britain was most gratified at the settlement owing to her interests in the Far East. He added that Britain was ready to return the Weihaiwei leasehold.

The Plenary Session of the Conference today also adopted without discussion the resolutions regarding foreign post offices in China, the withdrawal of foreign troops, the open door, and the Chinese railways, and also the declaration of the Powers asking China to reduce her military forces, and a resolution for the publication of foreign commitments regarding China.

Mr. Hughes announced that the Chinese Tariff resolution would be temporarily postponed, but would subsequently be embodied in the Customs tariff.

The Conference also adopted the China wireless resolution.

The Conference also has adopted the treaty prohibiting the use of poison gas and limiting submarine warfare.

GIVE UP ALASKA FORTS
(Trans-Pacific News Service Exclusive To The China Press)

Washington, Feb. 1.—American officials closely identified with the Disarmament Conference are authority for the statement that the Pacific fortifications issue has been settled. These officials see in the settlement of this problem, together with the approved plan for reducing capital ship production, the dawn of a long era of peace in the Pacific, basing their prediction on the firm belief that the end of preparations will end the danger of war.

There is some criticism of the American surrender of the fortifications scheme for the Aleutians, which a group of American naval men insisted should be strongly fortified. It is understood that Baron Kato, of Japan, made a strong fight against this and that the Americans finally yielded.

The Chinese and Japanese have agreed in principle on the Shantung settlement after a session which began in mid-afternoon and lasted late into the night.

DELEGATES ACCEPT TREATY
(Reuter's Special Service)

Washington, Feb. 1.—The delegates of the five Great Powers have formally assented to the Naval Treaty.

CRITICISE ARTICLE NIX

London, Feb. 1.—Relief is expressed in Conference circles at the substantial achievements of the past few days. The only criticism levelled at Article XIX. is because of its alleged lack of lucidity, but doubts will probably be set at rest in the Treaty, which is awaiting signature by the four Powers as a rider to the Quadruple Pact, which primarily designed to exclude the mainland of Japan from the scope of the Pact. Anyhow, there is a decided consensus of opinion that, considered in its broadest aspect, Article XIX. reduces the possibility of Japanese-American friction to a minimum and makes Japanese-American naval conflict (?) practically impossible.

The Westminster Gazette foresees that opposition in the United States Senate will concentrate on British freedom of action regarding Singapore and American abandonment of Guam as a possible point of departure for any future American intervention in Far Eastern affairs.

Nevertheless, the Shantung agreement has appreciably brightened the chances of ratification. China's acceptance of the terms which were approved by the British and American Delegation

U. S. EXPORTING MORE, IMPORTING LESS, FROM CHINA

Prices In States Irregular In December But Money Is Plentiful

Exports from the United States to China in the month of December amounted to Gold $7,300,000, a decrease of 2.66 percent, or Gold ($200,000, from the total for November which was Gold $7,500,000, according to a wireless message received yesterday by the office of the American Commercial Attache here from the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce at Washington.

The message reported that in December the exports from China to the United States amounted to G.$7,400,000, an increase of Gold $2,300,000 over November's total, which was G.$5,100,000.

Complete figures for the final quarter of 1921 are given as follows:

	Exports from U. S. to China
October	G.$8,800,000
November	7,500,000
December	7,300,000
Total	G.$23,600,000

	Exports from China to U. S.
October	G.$9,000,000
November	5,100,000
December	7,400,000
Total	G.$21,500,000

Further information contained in the message from Washington is the statement that production in the States increased slightly in December while commercial failures were heavy. Prices are reported to be irregular, but money is plentiful with interest rates declining. Exports from America are more or less stationary while imports are increasing.

Arbuckle Case To Go To Jury Soon

(Special To The China Press)

San Francisco, Jan. 30.—The defense of "Fatty" Arbuckle, motion picture star, who is on trial here a second time on charges of manslaughter arising out of the death of Virginia Rappe, rested today. The case is expected to go to the jury within a few hours.

leaders is reported to have been based on the fear that rejection might presage an alienation of English-speaking sympathy, since the Shantung dispute would constantly menace the peace of the Pacific.

Two other matters requiring to be cleared up were settled today when the Five Power Committee approved the drafts of treaties, one for the limitation of naval armaments, and the other for the banning of the use of submarines against merchantmen and forbidding the use of poison-gas.

Washington, Feb. 1.—The draft of the Treaty between the United States, the British Empire, France, Italy and Japan for the limitation of Naval armaments was submitted to the Plenary Session of the Conference this morning.

It is divided into chapters, the first containing the agreements in twenty separate articles; the second containing the details of specific naval agreements.

The articles in chapter one provide for the capitalships which the Powers respectively may retain. America retains 18 battleships with a tonnage of 500,650 tons, Britain 22 battleships with a tonnage of 580,450 tons, France 9 ships with a tonnage of 221,000 tons, Italy 10 ships with a tonnage of 182,000 tons, and Japan 10 ships with a tonnage of 301,000 tons.

When the Treaty becomes effective, all other capitalships, either built or being built by the five Powers will be scrapped. In addition to the specified capitalships, the United States may complete and retain two ships of the West Virginia class now under construction, and afterwards scrap the North Dakota and the Delaware, whilst Britain may construct two new capitalships not exceeding 35,000 tons each, and then scrap the Thunderer, King George V, Ajax and Centurion.

FIX REPLACEMENT RATIO

The Naval Ratio agreement gives in standard displacement tonnages the aggregate for capitalship replacement as follows:

The United States and Great Britain each 525,000 tons, France and Italy each 175,000 tons and Japan 315,000 tons. The Powers agree not to exceed these aggregate tonnages.

Other articles fix 35,000 tons to be the maximum tonnage of any capitalship, provide that no ship may carry guns exceeding sixteen inches and fix the tonnage of aircraft-carriers as follows: United States and Great Britain each 135,000 tons, France and Italy each 60,000 tons and Japan 81,000 tons.

The Treaty provides that no vessels hereafter laid down with the exception of capitalships may carry guns exceeding eight inches. No vessel liable to scrapping may be re-converted into a warship and no preparations may be made of merchantmen in time of peace for the purpose of converting them into warships except the stiffening of their decks and the mounting of guns not exceeding six inches.

The rules laid down for the building by any contracting Power for other Powers and for the scrapping of warships provide that the scrapped warships must be so treated that they cannot be put into combatant use. Scrapping may be effected by sinking, breaking up or by converting into targets.

The Treaty will remain in force until Dec. 31, 1936 and if none of the Powers notifies two years prior to that date its intention of terminating the Treaty, it will continue in force until the expiration of two years from the date of notice given.

ADVISABLE SAYS UCHIDA

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Feb. 2.—In the Diet today, when Chinese questions were being discussed by the Budget Committee, Count Uchida, replying to an interpellation regarding Shantung, withheld his explanation of the reasons for Japan's concessions except in saying that the Government considered such were advisable in view of future Sino-Japanese relations, and the changed conditions.

He believed that the settlement with regard to Shantung would improve the prospects of a settlement of the Twenty-One Demand Agreement. Japan did not intend to yield her Manchuria rights, which were closely connected with the basis of her national existence.

FRANCO-BRITISH CLASH

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Feb. 1.—The discussion of the Naval Treaty by the Armaments Committee was marked by a sharp exchange of views on the submarine issue between the British and French.

M. Jusserand announced that information from France refuted Lord Lee's charge that an article by Captain Castex in the Revue Maritime seemed to indicate the French policy to be that of unrestricted submarinism. He declared that Lord Lee omitted to say that the article was headed: "Character of German submarine warfare" and concluded with the words: "Thus argue the Germans." He emphasised that France opposed the German methods.

Lord Lee replied contending that the general meaning of Captain Castex's article was as he originally described and recalled that France opposed the British effort to abolish submarines. He deprecated the controversy, however, and urged friendly co-operation between England and France in the reconstruction of the world.

M. Jusserand said he welcomed Lord Lee's last words, but refuted the charge that France was imposing a burden of submarines on the world. He declared that all nations except Britain wanted to maintain submarines.

Cut Army In Half Says Japanese Opposition

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Feb. 1.—Following the restriction of naval armaments, land-force disarmament has, it is evident now in Japan, come to constitute a subject on which the public is making a hot discussion. Messrs. Y. Ozaki and S. Shimada on January 28 introduced a written inquiry in the House of Representatives in connection with Japan's naval and military armaments. The Kokuminto Party also laid a bill for the reduction of armaments before the session of the Diet on January 21. It is expected, therefore, that similar resolutions will be introduced in the House of Peers before long.

As regards the attitudes of all political parties towards the reduction of armaments in general, non-Government parties approve of the resolution tendered by the Kokuminto Party but differ in opinion respecting the bill of the Kokuminto Party, which advocates the reduction by half of military divisions and the reduction of the term of military service to one year. In consequence, the other non-Government parties have not put their signatures to the bill in question.

Owing to the fact, however, that Mr. Inukai, President of the Kokuminto Party, explained the reason why the party has introduced the Bill to the Diet and that Messrs. C. Shimooka and Y. Ozaki, of the Kensekai Party and the Independent Party, respectively, have each made a speech in support of the bill, the public at large is awaiting the result of it with keen interest.

Though the stand of the Seiyukai Party has not yet been decided there being in the party not a few earnest advocates for the reduction of land force, the Political Affairs Investigation Board is now devoting itself to the study of the subject with a view to presenting a concrete plan in the matter.

The Shriners' party which arrived from Seattle Monday to spend four days here, conducting a ceremonial and being entertained by local members of the order, sailed for Manila yesterday afternoon by the Admiral Line steamer Keystone State. They were accorded a hearty send-off by members of Nomad Oasis.

The Divan will conduct another big ceremonial in Manila, where they will spend five or six days, attending incidentally the Manila Carnival. They return to the States by the same ship.

MILL WORKERS STRIKE

Operation of the Japanese Cotton Mill No. 2, in Yangtszepoo, has been stopped by a strike of the workers.

The day shift of 800 employes appeared at the mill on time Wednesday morning but refused to go to work and the police were finally notified and got them out of the plant. Their grievance is that the company is holding up two weeks' pay and that they were notified that they could no longer bring their food into the mill, but must have it sent to the gates at certain times.

The holding up of the wages, it is said, is due to fear that with the opening of other mills soon many of the workers may leave for new jobs. The night shift of 600 reported for work Wednesday evening and each was given three coppers, work not being resumed.

HINDOO IS SENTENCED

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Harbin, Jan. 25.—The trial of the Hindoo Abdel Jabar accused of murdering another Hindoo on the night of December 10, last year, was held yesterday at the British Consulate where the judge, jurymen, lawyers and witnesses assembled at 9 a.m.

After a prolonged sitting the jury declared the Hindoo guilty of the crime and the judge sentenced him to death by hanging.

Chang Tso-lin Ruthless But He Gets Results

"Some time ago there was talk of Wu Pei-fu marching on Peking—'defying' Chang, as the newspapers called it. That gave us a laugh in Mukden, for those of us who have been in China some time are convinced that Chang's army would win rather handily.

"Still, it is not his qualities of soldiering that we admire in Chang Tso-lin, but rather his abilities as a civil administrator. As I said, he is the whole show up north, both in military and civil affairs. He runs everything, and in everything he runs he gets results. If China, as a nation, would put Chang Tso-lin in Peking, or Canton, or any other capital that might be selected, and give him complete and absolute power it wouldn't be many years until China would be demanding her rights, not requesting them, and getting them, too. Chang is what we call in America a 'go getter.'

"He is truly a marvelous man. Only a little chap, weighing, I would say, about 120 pounds, and standing five feet four or five inches tall—a mere bantam. They say that he doesn't write his own language, and that he doesn't speak it very well. He may not speak it very well, but all agree that when he does open his mouth he talks directly to the point, and in a manner that admits of no possible misunderstanding. In appearance he is grotesque—that is, you would call it grotesque if you didn't know him, because he wears a uniform that is big enough for two of him. His trousers slop down over his shoes and his coat flaps loosely about his shoulders.

LONG ON COMMON SENSE

"But protruding from the collar of that coat is a head that is chuck full of the rarest commodity in the world, plain, ordinary common sense, and when you come to know him for this quality you forget all about his personal appearance.

"Chang's father is reputed to have been an iron monger at Newchwang, and certain it is that he brought up an iron son. Chang's boyhood, we are told, was a rough and tumble scramble for existence that left an indelible, iron imprint on his character. His own son, now a lad of twenty, is faring better in his youth than did his father, for he is soon to leave for America, where he will finish his military education.

"Chang's only foreign advisor is Mr. E. Carlton Baker, former American Consul-General at Mukden. He and Chang apparently hit it off to perfection. His financial minister, Mr. Wang, is reputed to be the ablest financial man in China. He is a pleasant man, with all the efficiency of his employer. He speaks fair Y.M.C.A. English.

"Is Chang in the pay of the Japs? Nobody knows, unless it is Chang himself or the Japanese, and so far they have not deigned to relieve the world's curiosity on that delicate point. In Mukden nobody bothers about it.

"In his home town and in that part of his home country over which he reigns as Tuchun and Inspector General he gets results, and that's what counts."

A CORRECTION

In recording the death of the late Mr. Allan Paterson in Wednesday's issue it was erroniously stated that deceased's initials were R. A. E. Mr. R. A. E. Paterson has just returned from home, where he had been on leave. The mistake was due to the fact that both Mr. R. A. E. Paterson and Mr. Allan Paterson were accountants with Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews, the former's name only appearing in the hong list.

Obituary

MR. HARRY JOHN SMITH

His many friends learned with a shock of regret yesterday of the death of Mr. Harry John Smith which took place at the Victoria Nursing Home on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Smith, who was 50 years of age, had only returned to China one year ago in charge of Fraser and Chalmers Engineering Works, Ltd., attached to the General Electric Co. of China, Ltd. He had spent many years of extremely useful work in all parts of the world, in such places as South America, France, Spain, Algeria, Durban, Calcutta, Singapore, Hankow, and his geniality and kindness of heart endeared him to all who know him. He was very prominent in Masonic circles, being Past Master of lodges in Singapore (twice) and Rio de Janetro, Brazil. Although not an actual member of any lodge in Shanghai he was taking steps to enter the Saltoun Lodge.

As a member of the Institute of Mechanical Engineers of Great Britain Mr. Smith contributed a very well received and much discussed paper on "The Mechanical Loading of Ships" and only a few days ago read one before the Engineering Institute of China in Shanghai on "Belt Conveyors." He was a highly practical and technical engineer and was one of the pioneers of belt conveyor practice. Some of his work may be seen at the Riverside Power Station and also at the ironworks at Hanyang. When the Engineers' Club (London) was projected a year ago Mr. Smith became its correspondent in China.

Mr. Smith's literary abilities were sometimes directed to other channels and many residents in Hankow will remember the virile, luminous and often humorous articles by the ever popular "John del Rey."

Mr. Smith is survived by a wife and two step-sons while his father still resides in England.

The funeral takes place at the Bubbling Well Cemetery this afternoon at 4:30 p.m.

Music Hath Charms; Is Also Negotiable

One often reads in tenderly descriptive works about music stealing, etcetera. One seldom if ever reads about the music being stolen. Yet such, it seems, can happen.

At any rate, Miss Tsu On-woo and Mr. Zeng Wei-ming stood in the dock at the Mixed Court yesterday to answer to charges of this sort and later paid fines of $20 each.

The charge was outlined by the Rev. C. F. McRae, of the American Mission Church, 423 Rue Lafayette. On the morning of January 24, he stated, the girl came to him, introduced herself as a Christain from Peking and announced that her brother was to wed that afternoon at the Y.P.S. Hotel. They would like to borrow the mission organ for the occasion. The Rev. McRae very obligingly acceded to the request and the organ went away, with a promise left behind that it should be returned that afternoon. It didn't but three days later Mr. McRae's assistant met the girl and handed her over to a policeman. It then developed that the missing article was reposing in a pawnshop with an $18 debit notation standing against it. Zeng did the pawning.

A'mn School Takes Third Place In Basketball List

Defeat Fearon Daniel 30-27 In See-Saw Game; Amtraco Drop Down

In a fast and snappy game of basketball, which had either team leading and trailing the score in turn, the Shanghai American School five last night defeated Fearon Daniel's. The final score was 30-27.

The win put the School up another notch in the league standings. They displace the American Trading five, which not so long ago was being considered as possibilities for first position with the Bearcats. The latter team drops to fourth place.

The school started off in runaway fashion. For the first ten minutes they had the game all their own way, when the hong team tightened up, bringing the score at half time up to School 18, Fearon Daniel 17.

In the second half the play was of the see-saw variety. Squires was unusually good for the School; Sheldon was shooting well for the Hong, and Dennison playing too a strong game finally was forced out on four personal fouls. It was the first time a player had been put out of play for fouling this season.

The summary follows:

A'mn School 30		Fear. Dan'l 27
Parker	LF	Sheldon
Wiens	RF	Scott
Squires	C	Dennison
Smith	LG	Kay
Waters	RG	Patzlaff

Substitutions—Nichols for Dennison. Goals from floor—Squires 8, Sheldon 6, Parker 4, Dennison 4, Wiens 2, Scott 1, Kay 1, Patzlaff 1. Goals from fouls—Squires 2, Scott 1. Referee—Snider.

BEARCATS PASS HOODOO POINT; SCORE 13TH WIN

The Bearcats, undefeated leaders in the Shanghai Foreign Basketball league, safely passed over the hard-luck numbered game last night, at Shanghai College, scoring their 13th straight win, by a score of 40-12.

The game had the usual class attaching to any match the Bearcats enter. The work of the forward line as usual was strong and productive of goals, but the outstanding feature of the play was the winners' defense.

Poteat, the College's new man, who did so well against the American Trading five at basket throwing, and his forward partner, Hipps were guarded so closely and well by Lewis and Geldhart that they scored but six goals between them, the former getting but one from Lewis' guarding, and the latter five. No other College man scored.

The Summary follows:

Bearcats 40		College 12
Roxborough	LF	Poteat
Pettitt	RF	Hipps
Irle	C	Anderson
Lewis	LG	Kelofer
Geldhart	RG	Batcman

Substitutions—Gray for Pettit. Goals from floor—Roxborough 4, Pettit 4, Gray 4, Irle 6, Lewis 1, Poteat 1, Hipps 5. Goals from fouls—Gray 1, Irle 1.

Three Games Are On For Tonight

Two league basketball games and one friendly affair are scheduled for tonight at the Rowing Club as follows:

5:30 p.m. Y.M.C.A. vs. Anderson Meyer.

6:30 p.m. American Trading vs. Bowside.

8:30 p.m. Strokeside vs. Soochow University.

The first match will probably not be played inasmuch as the Anderson Meyer five have all but quit the game due to the inability of Capt. Armstrong to raise teams for scheduled matches.

Tientsin-Peking To Play Hockey Sunday

Peking, January 31.—On Sunday morning, the Peking hockey team will meet Tientsin on the latter's rink for the annual interport hockey match for the Wharton cup. The Peking players are practicing this week today, tomorrow, and Friday in an effort to get the team into shape to revenge the two defeats which they have suffered at the hands of Tientsin in the two preliminary games of the season. The two previous scores have been 11 to 0 and 3 to 1 in favor of the Tientsin aggregation.

The weakness of the Peking team to date has been a lack of team work resulting from very infrequent practice and it is hoped that a strenuous week on the ice will remedy this situation.

Greatest Of Cyclists

Alfred Goullet is today being hailed as the king of cyclists as the result of his remarkable performance in the closing hours of the Six-Day Race at Madison Square Garden, New York. The veteran rider, with his partner, Maurice Brocco, won the big event. Goullet won thirteen out of the last eighteen sprints in which he participated. It was the most astounding performance ever recorded in the history of cycling. Goullet was born in Australia, but is a naturalised American citizen.

Football Men Are Held Professionals

Taylorville, Ill., Jan. 30.—Dick Simpson, manager of the Taylorville football eleven, today partially verified charges that nine players from the University of Illinois who were barred from athletics at the university for participating in a semi-pro game here on November 27, had been hired for the purpose and that much money was bet on the game. Simpson said that the opposing team, Carlinsville, hired Notre Dame University stars. Taylorville won.

Electricity Dep't. Football Club Quit Second Division

Cancels All Fixtures: Six Other Clubs Hope For Fine Weather Tomorrow

The Electricity Department Football Club, it was announced yesterday, have definitely cancelled all of their remaining engagements for the season, thus retiring from the Shanghai Football Association.

The club has played but seven games of the League fixtures, in the second division, and have not won any, losing six and drawing one, for a total of but one point. Their fixture for today with the Recs on the latter's field will not be played.

Since there has been no league play to speak of since January 14 due to the playing of the Scottowe and International first rounds and the holidays, players and fans alike are hoping for dry weather for tomorrow.

Three of tomorrow's league football matches promise interesting play, with teams as nearly evenly matched as the percentage table permits.

In the first division the feature game must be that between the Engineers, occupants of second position and the Police, now at fourth, but always a contender even when matched with Shanghai's best.

The division leaders, the Football Club are on a bye tomorrow. Should the Engineers win over the Police, they will tie the Club for first honors.

The next two best matches fall into the second division. The first two teams, the Club and the Navy are pitted to play, and the next two, The School and the Rangers are also opposed.

The Club with its seven point lead cannot be displaced as leader, nor even endangered, should the Navy win, though the Rangers may climb to third place with a 1-point lead by a win over the School.

Matches with assigned referees are:

First Division

Customs v. S. R. C. at Hongkew. Mr. H. F. Landers.

Engineers v. Police, on Polo ground. Mr. Hampson.

Portuguese v. St. Xaviers, at Hongkew. Mr. Marshall.

Second Division

Navy v. S. F. C. on S. F. C. ground. Mr. Gabbutt.

Rangers v. Public School, on Police ground. Mr. Bissett.

Portuguese v. Jewish, on Wld. Mon. ground. Mr. Bridges.

Home teams mentioned first. All matches are set for a 3 o'clock kick-off.

KULING HAVING HARDEST WINTER IN MANY YEARS

Blizzards and stormy weather have held sway through the holiday season of the Chinese New Year at Kuling which has been experiencing one of the most rigorous winters in its history, according to the report brought back from the resort by Mr. Paul Myron Linebarger, who arrived last night on the steamer Kiang Hsin. The vessel arrived in Shanghai six hours late due to mist and snow that delayed it.

Mr. Linebarger said that after experiencing a season of mild weather, which lasted up to about two weeks ago two heavy storms descended from Lushan and swept through the whole valley, providing a full variety of tobogganing and other winter sports. Mr. Linebarger sought to return to Shanghai last Saturday when, failing to get chairbearers he undertook the descent of the mountain with the aid of a sled-coolie and narrowly escaped losing his life in the attempt. This happened when he came upon a slippery portion of the trail and was almost precipitated over the edge of a precipice. After the experience he returned to Kuling.

The winter colony at Kuling is large just now, he said, with about 60 students in school and 100 guests. Despite winter conditions, he said, much building work is in progress and all indications are that Kuling is to have another prosperous year.

DUNLOP SCORES LOSS

(Reuter's Service)

London, Jan. 31.—The huge loss of £8,320,000 disclosed by the Dunlop Rubber Company in its annual report on August 31st, 1921 is chiefly due to the enormous shrinkage in the market price of stocks of raw material, principally rubber and cotton, held by the Company.

The reserve account now stands at £2,750,000.

American Wheat Bought By Russ

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Jan. 24.—The People's Commissariat of Agriculture has made purchases of seeds in the Baltic states and in America. Special attention is given to the purchase of wheat for the famine-stricken regions of Volga. The Commissariat strives to support the growing of wheat in the Volga district, as the Volga wheat was always well-reputed and used to rival the American wheat on the world markets.

AUSTRALIA AFTER TRADE

(Reuter's Service)

London, Jan. 31.—Sir Joseph Cook, High Commissioner for the Australian Commonwealth, in an interview with Reuter's correspondent expressed the wish to cultivate more cordial relations between Australia and the other Dominions and also the Far East.

With regard to the Far East, he emphasised that efforts were being made in Australia to develop new channels of trade. One Trade Commissioner, he said, had been in the East for two years and another had just been appointed.

Australia was looking to the East for the disposal of many of its manufactures. He described Australia as a Western nation with an Eastern trade outlook.

Schurman May Get Washington Post

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Feb. 1.—Confidential advices received here from America say that Mr. Jacob Gould Schurman, American Minister to China, has been offered or will shortly be offered the post of Assistant Secretary of State at Washington to succeed Mr. Henry P. Fletcher. Mr. Fletcher has been appointed American Minister to Belgium to succeed Mr. Brand Whitlock, former Mayor of Toledo who gained political prominence in the United States when he waged a successful fight to drive a municipal street car system out of politics.

Confirmation of the report is not available. At the American Legation yesterday it was declared that the report was news to the officials. They had not heard of it. Added to this is the fact that many friends of Mr. Schurman would prefer to see him remain at his post in China until such time as he has shown that degree of capability which convinced President Harding that he was the right man for the post he now holds. On the other hand, the fact that the report is so widely published in the American press would indicate that Mr. Schurman will be offered the honor.

German Prices Too Low For America

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Feb. 1.—According to statements made at the National Association of Manufacturers which opened at Washington on January 30, owing to German competition at prices one-third to one-fifth lower than the cost of production in the United States, scores of American factories have closed and thousands of people are out of work.

As an example, the President of the Crucible Steel Company stated that German tool steel was selling in New York at one-fifth of the American cost of production and that five out of thirty American manufacturers of this type of steel had failed, while others were operating at under 25 percent of their capacity.

Manufacturers and labor organisations were demanding the early passage of the Fordney Tariff Bill.

A labor representative summed up by declaring that one ounce of gold could buy 17 hours of labor in the United States, 97 hours in Japan, 117 in France and 201 in Germany.

Lifting The Veil

THE meeting of the Committee on Pacific and Far Eastern questions, held at Washington on January 24th, lifts a veil from what must have appeared to many students of the Far Eastern question as a political enigma. The existence of a misconception as to the exact definition of the objects of Allied intervention in Siberia appears to be the basis upon which the entire Siberian question, since the withdrawal of the American Forces from Siberia, has pivoted and, in addition, has at times led to the necessity of the United States of America and Japan exchanging notes expressing each other's views on the question.

From these notes it will be seen that the policy of Japan has differed somewhat to that of the United States, although the primary objects of both countries on intervention were understood to have been identical, which circumstance led to the common agreement on intervention. Close examination of the situation as viewed from both angles leads one to conclude that virtually there has been no abuse of confidence on the part of Japan towards America with respect to the former's promises at the inception of the expedition, for Japan has repeatedly given assurances of her ultimate intention to respect the territorial integrity of Russia.

The only question that appears to form the basis for the referred to misconception is the continued presence of Japanese troops in Eastern Siberia and Sakhalien and the ulterior objects revealed by said military occupation. How far Japan has really strayed from accomplishing the primary objects of her avowed agreement with America can only be guaged by the Japanese activities since the time when "the American Government ceased to be a party to the expedition, i.e. when she withdrew her Forces from Siberia in the Spring of 1920."

America evidently had quite satisfied herself then that the original purposes of the expedition could be no longer subserved by continued military activities in Siberia. This cannot be said of Japan because she continued to retain her troops in Siberia and pursue a policy which while slightly opposing the fundamental objects of intervention, as agreed upon between the two countries, nevertheless gave Japan a plea for her actions, but at the same time it jeopardised her status with respect to America and other honorable participants in intervention, who remained simply as close observers of events in Eastern Siberia. Japan assumed full responsibility for her continued intervention the day the other countries withdrew their troops and her case reminds one of the lines of the poem:

He either fears or his desserts are small,
Who dares not put it to the test and lose or win it all.

Japan evidently was not convinced that the objects of intervention had been accomplished and made up her mind to put it to the test. The question now is what actually constitute the objects of Japan's continued intervention, since one has been led to believe the various assurances on her part to respect the territorial integrity of Russia. In order fully to understand the significance of this policy, it must be remembered that at the time the American and other troops were withdrawn from Siberia, the Denikin and Polish offensives were just being launched against Russia and although the Kolchak adventure had failed, there was still some hope that Moscow might be taken by the help of the aforesaid offensives, so Japan just held on in the expectation that the restoration of the monarchy in Russia would follow as a sequence, and her dream for due recompense of her services would be accomplished. However, as all these reactionary attacks upon Russia have proved failures and, as expressed by Mr. Hughes "continued occupation of the strategic positions of Eastern Siberia inevitably lends itself to misconception and tends rather to increase than to allay unrest and disorder in that region of military occupation." It follows, especially in view of Baron Shidehara's assurances to the American Delegation that his Government will withdraw its troops from the Pri-Maritime Province and Sakhalien, that Japan recognises the fruitlessness of her policy and forsees the necessity of viewing matters as they really exist. These assurances will do much to remove the misconceptions which have existed now for some years past and will go far to cement those real bonds of friendship which by rights ought to have existed from the very commencement between Japan and America, whose friendship is one of long standing.

The only remaining feature which might now be termed as problematic is Japan's position towards Russia and Russia's towards Japan. However, it is reasonable to expect that honest assurances by Japan will be met by Russia in the same spirit of good faith as the American Government accepts those given by Baron Shidehara.

Correspondence

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

THE BISHOP OF ROME

Sir:—I have read with interest the letter by "Outsider" on the election of the Pope which appeared in your issue of February 2. A non-Catholic is apt to lose sight of what the Pope really is. According to Catholic Belief the Pope is the successor of St. Peter who was the first Bishop of the city of Rome. The Head of the Catholic Church is the Bishop of Rome and he is Head of the Catholic Church simply because he is Bishop of Rome. At the present moment in Rome they are selecting a new Bishop of that City who will by virtue of that office be Pope and Head of the Church. It is therefore only natural that the Romans should chose an Italian for their Bishop, just as natural as that the English should want an Englishman as Bishop of London, the Americans an American as Bishop of New York or the Irish and Irishman as Bishop of Dublin.

During the disturbed period in the Middle Ages when the Popes resided at Avignon in France it was the Bishop of Rome who resided there. There was not one man residing in Rome as Bishop of that City and another in Avignon as Pope. The Bishop of Rome was forced at that time to live in France because the disturbed conditions of his own Episcopal City made it impossible for him to live there.

All this does not mean that the Pope must be an Italian any more than that the Catholic Bishop at Westminster must be an Englishman; it simply indicates the naturalness of the selection of an Italian.

My Own Report -:- No. 3

By Jabin Hsu

(Mr. Hsu attended the Washington Disarmament Conference as staff correspondent of THE CHINA PRESS and THE EVENING STAR. He was also a special correspondent for the New York Herald, the Baltimore Sun and the San Francisco Chronicle. In this series of articles being written by him since his return from the United States, he gives to readers the first record of a Chinese journalist's close hand impressions of the world conclab and draws some interesting conclusions.)

China's hopes and aspirations and its determination to abide by the traditional doctrine of the 'Open Door' were set forth by the spokesman of the Chinese Delegation, Alfred Sze, in the ten points presented on November 16 to the Washington Conference. They were considered by some as wise and shrewd. It was shrewed, they argued, to conceive the proposals in broad fundamental terms. No nation can object to the first two points for example, regarding the territorial integrity and political independence of China and the policy of the open door, because all nations having dealings with China had more than once recognised these principles in black and white.

It was considered fortunate by some that the Chinese delegation was able to present a formal bill of rights, containing the broad principles which may govern the relations of the country with foreign powers; these points, once more acknowledged and carried out to the letter by the powers would doubtless safeguard our country against infringements upon our independence, our territory and liberty of action and leave us to work out our own destiny, whether for good or for evil. Under the new charter our territory would be free from claims which are incompatible with the sovereignty of our country, objectionable concessions and privileges might be cancelled; other powers would not enter into agreements with one another affecting us without first consulting us. On our part, we undertook to alienate no more territory to any power and we accepted in full the doctrine of the open door which other powers desired us to recognise. We asked that administrative and fiscal freedom be absolutely returned when circumstances should permit.

The proposals, of course, lacked definiteness except as to principle; and all the patriots and well-wishers of China presumed that the delegates would take an early occasion to suggest specific settlements of the outstanding issues so vital to the interests of our people. The proposals could have formed a suitable basis for the discussion of China's grievances, indefinite as they were. However, a veil of secrecy was wrapped over the Far Eastern questions after China submitted her proposals. There were reports that dynamite had been discovered in the Far Eastern question. The Chinese delegation failed to come up to popular anticipation in presenting the paramount issues. Chinese journalists and students had been clamoring for the solution of the Shantung controversy, the Twenty-One Demands and China's fiscal autonomy since the very outset of the parley, yet the delegation from China remained inactive on those issues after having apparently paved the way for them with the ten proposals.

Moreover, at that juncture, it was not plain why there should be any dynamite in the China problem. Secretary Hughes had only the previous week hurled his bombshell before the European and Japanese diplomats who received it with more or less philosophy. There was no need to talk of dynamite, we thought, if the right of our people to dwell on our own soil in peace without foreign aggression and interference were recognised and the entire question considered in a straightforward way.

Students of political science all know that the peace and conference of the world will not rest on a settled basis until the Chinese proposals are squarely met and until there is assurance that a combination of military force and economic expansion will not be applied to China by Japan or any other foreign power. Unless China has this assurance, not by way of general declaration but by specific engagements which will bind the powers in their detailed activities in China, the object of the conference could not be achieved.

The dynamite later proved to be our familiar friend, the ghost of Versailles. The head of the Far Eastern division of the State Department at Washington said so. Several of the American advisors to the Chinese delegation told me so. With the exception of China and the United States, all the participating powers at Washington, had signed the Versailles Treaty and still clung to its validity although the pact had been invalided in several other international deals. The seven powers held the treaty as sacred. The United States acquiesced in their position and China yielded.

Attempts were at once made following the submission by China of her bill of rights to side track the Chinese question or slur it over with generalities, in which connection the Chinese delegates themselves were not the least offenders. It could be plainly seen that Japan, as represented by Admiral Baron Kato, Prince Tokugawa, Ambassador Shidehara and Vice-Minister Hanihara, had come to the conference not to give away anything but to maintain her position on the Asiatic mainland intact in all essential matters. Chinese people expected too much from Harding and Hughes when they hoped that the action of the conference would change the position or tendency. This change is impossible so long the militarists remain in power in Japan.

En passant, Japanese propogandists in America flooded the American press with abundant statements that Japan was not militaristic, that the new Premier was anti-militarist and the Japanese people were seeking nothing but honest business and peace with the world. I am not unaware of the liberal element now at work in Japan, but in international dealings we must judge by acts and positive forces and not by declarations of high ideals. I believe it was the late Mr. Gladstone who said:

"How can I listen to your words when your acts sound so eloquently to me."

Japanese acts in Shantung, Manchuria and Mongolia, Korea and Siberia certainly sounded eloquently enough to us.

After almost a week's silence and speculation, Senator Elihu Root come across with his four resolutions as a modified form of the Chinese proposals. The resolutions were unanimously adopted by the nine powers. They undertook to respect the sovereignty, independence and territorial and administrative integrity of China, to provide unembarrassed opportunity to China to develop a stable government, to maintain the principle of equal opportunities for the commerce and industry of all nations throughout the territory of China and to refrain from taking advantage of the present conditions by seeking special rights.

The adoption was considered as an actual result of the conference and the Chinese delegates were described by the American press as being elated over the result. However, we may consider these resolutions, brief and superficial as they are, as good ground work; the application of these principles in actual cases only can bring results. It must be remembered that several nations have previously expressed their attitude towards China along precisely the same lines, but they never adhered to them. The Chinese delegates at that time deceived themselves by assuming that Japan might mean what she said in Washington. She might have imbibed the spirit so loftily expressed by President Harding at the initial session. They also believed that Japan, subscribing to these principles before a conference of great powers, would mean what she said because she could not go back on her words.

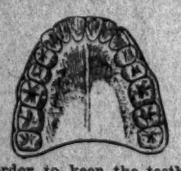
But thinking Chinese are inclined to receive with reservation the acceptance of the Root principles, especially by Japan, who furnished no evidence of good faith throughout the rest of the conference, and the waxing of enthusiasm over the acceptance proved to be waste energy. It proved that Japan, while seeking a declaration of broad principles from the conference which would guide all nations in the future, looked with disfavor upon any analysis of the past or the application of the principles to any or all existing issues which she terms "fait accompli," alleging that such might cause international friction and America acquiesced in the Japanese stand.

In justice to Mr. Root, it must be said that the resolutions could be made a foundation for reform that would end present practices. But when we consider the subsequent conduct of the powers at Washington, especially Japan, they again proved to be a conglomoration of fined turned diplomatic phrases. I am convinced that the Root resolutions were not meant to be retrospective. The best that could be expected of them is their application after the conference. Their application must also depend upon the conditions of China and not upon the author or those who adopted them.

Manifestly, China's future, by virtue of the resolutions, is secured against aggrandisement. But China must go a long way towards setting her own house in order and demonstrate her capacity to protect her interests before the powers surrender their guarantees, which the incapacity of the Peking Government has made necessary. The road is open to us, but it will probably be years and years before our aim for territorial and administrative autonomy can be accomplished. We have much to do. Japanese liken our people as a tray of sand incapable of cohesion. Let us hope that the adversities at Washington will supply the cement to bring the scattered grains into a concrete foundation upon which a glorious edifice may be erected!

From the American standpoint, the Root resolutions constituted an achievement of the conference, with idealism as their impelling motive. They form a sufficient step forward to accomplish one of the three aims of the United States, which I dealt with in my previous article. Whether they will be a measure of assistance to China or not will entirely depend upon ourselves in working out our own internal difficulties.

KINGMAN & BROS.
How to Preserve the Teeth



In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis, esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consist in:—
(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly.
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

Chang Saves Liang's Face

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Feb. 1.—Chang Tso-lin's circular telegram, probably drafted by Yen Kung-chow, is looked upon as being purely for the purpose of "saving the face" of Premier Liang Shih-yi, to whom the Mukden leader must give credit as a utensil which did him good service but which he no longer requires, and which, indeed, opposition on the part of members of his own faction prevents further utilisation.

Gen. Chang Tso-lin suggests that Liang's opponents present proof of their charges that he has attempted to "sell out the nation," and further advances the dubious argument that should such proof be forthcoming, "selling one's country" is no worse than weakening the prestige of the Central government by premier-baiting.

The telegram insinuates that Gen. Wu Pei-fu's obstructionist policies will be repeated to the detriment of the central government, of which Chang Tso-lin professes to be a consistent supporter. Chang, however, sidesteps all responsibility for supporting the present or any future cabinets by averring that the cabinet is solely the President's affair and that military men have no right to interfere.

RIFT GROWS WIDER
(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, Feb. 1.—The circular telegram dated January 30 issued by Marshal Chang Tso-lin has, it is reported, been drafted by Mr. Yeh Kung-cho, Minister of Communications. That Chang Tso-lin has taken this move indicates the fact that the zealous movement on the part of Yeh Kung-cho has successfully prevailed upon the Mukden warlord. Besides this, Chang Tso-lin has of late sent a secret telegram to a certain quarter here expressing his firm determination with the result that the Chiaotung Clique has suddenly come to show high spirits again.

Accordingly, Premier Liang's leave of absence, which the Chihli faction has looked upon as the herald of his resignation, has come to prove, by the continuation of his furlough, that the reported resignation of the Premier would be postponed. With the change of the situation, the relations between the Chihli and Fengtien factions are getting strained more than ever. Such being the case, President Hsu is very much worried and is falling into adverse circumstances.

CHANG NOT PARTICULAR
(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Jan. 30.—General Tsao Kun recently sent Colonel Chow Teh-sheng to Mukden with New Year greetings to General Chang Tso-lin. Colonel Chow has since telegraphed to the Government from Mukden saying that General Chang Tso-lin does not seem to care much who holds the Premiership but is strongly in favor of the disbandment of superfluous troops. The Colonel gained the opinion that there was no real cause of friction between the Chihli and Mukden military factions.

LIANG REFUSES AGAIN
(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, Feb. 1.—According to today's announcement of the Cabinet, Dr. W. W. Yen, Acting Premier, yesterday called on Mr. Liang Shih-yi at Tientsin and advised him to return to his post, but Mr. Liang, having firmly decided not to take up the Premiership, Dr. Yen's mission has ended in failure.

It is reported on good authority, however, that President Hsu has granted Mr. Liang another ten days' leave of absence. Though it is likely that Mr. Liang will return here on the 6th instant, his object appears to be to entertain foreign Ministers and others at a banquet but not to reassume his post.

NOTICE. All persons are warned that from this date until Sunday night they will be missing the time of their lives if they fail to see "Trumpet Island" at the Isis Theatre.

96 Million Salt Loan Signed

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Feb. 1.—The refunding loan of $96,000,000, consolidating previous miscellaneous loans secured by the salt surplus but not recognised by foreign authorities in the salt administration, has been signed. The Japanese banks are undertaking $26,000,000, and the Chinese banks the balance, the various banks undertaking amounts equivalent to loans previously advanced by them. Thus, no money advance is involved in the transaction, but the banks are merely claiming the salt surplus securities for the purpose of co-operating and eliminating the regular monthly scramble for salt surplus.

The miscellaneous loans, which are mostly on a short-term basis, are given a uniform seven years to run. This method of spreading the payment over longer periods will permit the Ministry of Finance, after depositing the monthly sum required under the contract for amortisation, to retain for itself approximately $2,000,000.

The banks, on their part, have agreed to an increased assurance repayment as afforded by the pool in order to gain another discount.

BANK NEAR CRISIS

Peking, Feb. 1.—Today's meeting of the shareholders of the Bank of Communications was expected to develop a crisis in the history of that institution. It is known that a strong faction among the shareholders are for a program of reorganisation under which Liang Shih-yi would be ousted from all connection with the bank. The meeting today will decide whether Liang's political venture is to prove a success from his standpoint.

The bank, preceding the Chinese New Year's, circulated a new note issue of $2,000,000, causing a run on the institution the day before the New Year's holidays during which $1,000,000 worth of the notes were redeemed. The intervention of the holidays fortunately relieved the situation.

Publication of the new note issue indicates that Chang Tso-lin's $4,000,000 fund is still insufficient to supply the needs of the bank.

Dutch Leader For Mine Strikers

(Reuter's Service)

Capetown, Feb. 1.—South Africa's industrial troubles have now assumed a definitely political complexion. General Hertzog, the leader of the Nationalist section of the Dutch, has taken the unprecedented step, so far as his party is concerned, of espousing the cause of the strikers.

Addressing a strike meeting at Witbank Colliery, he declared that 90 percent of the people of the country sided with the strikers. He praised the men's constitutional methods and wished them success. Subsequently he conferred with the men's leaders.

RETURN TO WORK

Johannesburg, Jan. 31.—The men are returning to the coalfields but it will be difficult to take back even a reduced number owing to the small demand for coal.

The coal mine strikers are now scarcely discussing the economic aspect and are concentrating on the political issue and are advocating nationalisaton of the mines and the submission of the whole dispute to Parliament.

Many men now admit that even victory for them would mean the closing down of many mines.

There are indications of a widespread eagerness among the strikers to return to work.

RAIL STRIKE NEAR

Berlin, Feb. 1.—The executive of the Railway Men's Union has decided by 20 votes to 15 in favor of proclaiming an immediate general strike of railway men.

HOLDER TOP SHAVING STICK
"The Holder That Holds"

Firm, secure, substantial—that is Williams' Holder Top Stick. The stick fits into a metal collar, the metal collar into an aluminum holder. It can't fall out. It can't loosen. It can't wobble. It can't break off. It holds.

Yet when the original stick is nearly gone you can easily unscrew the collar, and use the stub in a special way—the last atom of it. Then screw in a Re-Load stick. The Holder lasts indefinitely.
